MP3 Version

Lineage:
TASCAM DR-40 internal mics > Adobe Audition (fixed string pop on "Go Long"
and feedback on "Have One", some multi band compression, fades, mild EQ to bump bass) > CDWAV (track splits and compression to FLAC8)

Thanks to docrupard for sharing the show at Dime.

Somewhat unusual setlist for a Joanna Newsom show, "crowdsourced" as she puts it, with a rare appearance of "The Things I Say", as well as a requested "Go Long" and a requested-but-eventually-nixed "Sawdust and Diamonds" because by the end of the show, Jo had lost her voice. Show notable for a broken string during "Go Long" which led to an impromptu Q&A session after Jo figured out that she did not have that specific replacement string available and would have to fashion one out of a different string. In the midst of this, she called for a "Bulgarian Something Or Other" from Ryan Francesconi to entertain the crowd, and was pretty blunt with a few audience members who asked about her personal life. The harmonies with Robin Pecknold on the last few songs (especially "Time, As A Symptom") are really beautiful.

The recording is a solid "A": all instruments are present and accounted for in the mix, and Joanna's voice is immediate and up-front.
